Urology Procedures Now Available Locally

Homer, Alaska, Friday, September 14, 2007: Dr. J. Wesley Turner now offers surgical urology procedures at South Peninsula Hospital. Dr. Turner is trained in minimally invasive surgical techniques in treating diseases of the prostate, kidney, and female urinary incontinence. Diagnostic cystoscopy, kidney stone retrieval and TURP (transurethral resection of the prostate) are among the procedures now available.

Dr. Turner finished his urology residency in 1994 at the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics and has practiced urological surgery in Alaska since then. He was a founding partner of Alaska Southcentral Urology Specialists in 1997. Prior to that, he provided care to the Alaska Native population through the Alaska Native Medical Center, and traveled throughout the state. Dr. Turner's affiliations include: Diplomate of the American Board of Urology, Member of the American Urological Association, American Medical Association, Alaska State Medical Association, and the Anchorage Medical Society. Dr. Turner has authored numerous publications in basic science and clinical research.

Local clinics are offered monthly. For more information about these services, call Alaska Southcentral Urology Specialists at 800-525-8830.
